Kapartheeswarar Temple, Tiruvalanjuli

This is the 142nd Thevara Paadal Petra Shiva Sthalam and 25th sthalam on the south side of River Kaveri in Chozha. The temple is on the banks of River Arasalaru. Since Kaveri swirls on right direction, this place is called as Thiruvalanchuzhi /Thiruvalanjuli. This Vinayagar is one of the parivara deity for Thiruvudaimaruthur. Even though this is a Paadal Petra Shiva Sthalam, it is popularly known as Velli Pillayar Temple.

ARCHITECTURE

The sanctum sanctorum consists of sanctum, antarala and Ardha Mandapam. A Vesara Vimana is on the sanctum. A moat formation is around the sanctum sanctorum, may be due to rise of ground level.

HISTORY AND INSCRIPTIONS

Since Thirugnanasambandar and Thirunavukkarasu Swamigal has sung hymns in praise of Lord shiva of this temple, the original temple existed before 7th Century. The original temple was reconstructed during Chozha period and latter extended during Pandya and Vijayanagara period. The inscriptions recorded from this temple belongs to Thirubhuvana Chakravarthi, Rajathi Rajan, Rajakesarivarman, Parakesarivarman, Vikrama Chozha, Rajendra Chozha, and Rajaraja-III. The inscriptions mainly records the sale of Lands to Vellai Pillayar Temple and purchase of land from the temple. Transaction was done through money as Kasu. Only few inscriptions records the endowment of burning perpetual lamps and Naivedyam.

As per the inscriptions this place was under Uyyakondarvalanattu, Pamboontha Thirukudamooku..... Akilandanayaka Chaturvedi mangalam Devathanam Akilanayakacheri, and Lord Shiva was called as Thiruvalanjuli Udayanayanar and Thirukudamookudayar. Rajarajan-I, period inscription records that Queen and Rajarajan's wife Lokamadevi and daughter Kundavai (Vimadithan's wife), gave a gift of jewellery to this temple.

Your Stars This Year

Aries : The planets work harmoniously to shower you with good fortune. Someone from the opposite gender might turn out to be an important part of your journey – it can be a conversation, a new acquaintance or a potential love interest. Positive change in your life. Intimacy is set to touch new records in the coming days.

Taurus: All about clarity as the stars try to bring you out of any fog that may have been surrounding your love life. It is a time of self-discovery, so if you have been nurturing some high expectations about love, this is the time to let them go and be more real in your relationships. You may struggle to understand each other's perspective.

Gemini: Your heart demands truth and bravery, especially in heart matters. If there are issues you've been silent about or tolerating to avoid conflict, now is the best time to speak up. It's the perfect time to discuss any issues. Be honest, even if it is embarrassing—your partner.

Cancer: This week, you feel great, and your energy is high, which makes you even more attractive to others around you. For singles, this boost in confidence could lead to some interesting relationships, so do not hesitate to start something new. You are likely to attract people with a positive attitude and energy level.

Leo: The stars are aligned in your favour this week, and you will move smoothly through the waters of love and relationships. You will discover that networking is easy and adds happiness to your existence. This is the right time for singles to open your heart: you might meet someone who resonates with your positive energy.

Virgo: Ask for concentration and purpose in your love life. For single people, it is time to give up their casual attitude and embrace a purposeful search for a partner. Being proactive can lead you to attract a person who shares the same values as you do. Relationships, it's a reminder that love takes effort to make it work.

Libra: The cosmos advises you to sort out issues related to love within the family setting and get along. For single people, this is the time they should rely on their families; they can give you some insights into your romantic relationships to help you make the right decisions. They do care about you, and their opinion.

Scorpio: Your spirit is electric with the energy of the daring and lead to some interesting experiences. Adventurous spirit may make you go for the gusto—this could mean going over and talking to that person you've been eyeing or perhaps moving beyond the same mistakes you've made in your previous relationships.

Sagittarius: For couples, this might be a good time to think about the true nature of your relationship. Discussing goals and beliefs that are important to both of you may improve your relationship and expand the spheres of mutual perception. Single people, your appeal is in your individuality this week.

Capricorn: It may feel like you're slipping, but a deadline does not define the potential. When pursuing self-improvement, you may meet someone who appreciates the kind of person you are and how hard you work. Allow love to come to you while you are being yourself.

Aquarius : Love becomes somewhat more pleasurable as the stars teach some self-indulgence. This could be the perfect time to pamper each other with an over-the-top gesture—whether going out for a fancy dinner, buying something for the other, or even thinking about purchasing something that represents your future.

Pisces: The planet of aggression, might bring conflict into your private sphere and relationships. There could be simple misunderstandings or petty quarrels that are irritating. Aim to communicate openly to repair relationships. Search for a partner or even make you feel restless. As much as this energy will compel you to make big strides, do not overdo it lest you.

Potholes a problem in Ashok Nagar

Ashok Nagar, 6th Avenue roads are a headache for the residents residing here who could not ride on

Free Camp

Ayushman Bharat Vaya Vandana Card for all senior citizens above 70 years of age is being distributed in a free camp organised at 25/12, Velu Street, West Mambalam between 10 am and 12 30 pm on 14 & 15 December. Those attending the camp must bring an Aadhar Card, mobile and voter id. Please bring your spouse's Aadhar Card even if they have not completed 70 years of age. Beneficiaries should come in person. this main junction. The roads in the Avenue are relaid just a month back. Even though barricades has been put for cautious for motorists. Not to ride on the cement patchwork which was laid before a month.

Many motorists without any responsibility ride over the wet cement patchwork the picture taken before a month was published above. This is the reason many places in Sixth Avenue work batters.

Sixth Avenue, which leads to a private school and park, has become a hotspot for frequent minor accidents involving school students. 'Despite Metrorail work, the road was fine until Sept. We plan to cover the patches with wet-mix and the roads will be re-laid soon', officers said.

Few takers only

There are only a few takers for doing rituals to the departed soul at the Vembuli Amman Koil Street in Virugambakkam. Most of them complain about the poor maintenance of the buildings. There will be very good support from the general public if maintained well. Enhanced infrastructure will help. There are no toilets and bathrooms. Reasonable charges for the facilities can be provided, laments Raja, a long time resident. As it is centrally located it is easily accessible. With the construction of Metro related work shortly, sustenance is going to be a problem, he said.

It will be a boon for those who perform their rituals for departed souls in the neighbourhood, said Nagarajan, another resident. People avoid it due to uncleanliness in the area where ceremonies are conducted, no restrooms, inadequate parking facility and noisy surroundings. In Hindu tradition, the annual ritual for honoring a departed soul is a ceremony that involves offering food and prayers to ancestors to nourish their souls and ensure their place in the ancestral realm.

Diyas are back in the neighbourhood

The traditional diyas have now made a comeback. With Karthigai round the corner, potters said there is much impact on the sale of earthen products, especially diyas as people still buy them in MGR Nagar Market, Amman Koil and Pillayar Koil.

Earthen lamps ahead of Karthigai show an increasing trend as people buy for the lamp festival.

People have come environmentally-conscious nowadays and they prefer local clay-made decorative items.

Burning diyas is a ritual that everyone follows during Karthigai festival. The small earthen lamps are priced according to the size of the product. It varies from Rs 80 to Rs 100 a piece. They are environmental friendly and are safe when compared to Chinese lamps.

Treatment modalities for Sandhigata Vata (Osteoarthritis) in Ayurveda

In Ayurveda, degenerative conditions like osteoarthritis (Sandhigata Vata), which involve significant structural weakness, often show limited recovery with internal medications alone. Ayurvedic treatments for osteoarthritis emphasize balancing Vata dosha, alleviating pain and improving joint health. To address these conditions effectively, we have formulated a special program incorporating various treatment modalities.

Key Therapies include :

Oil Therapies : Abhyangam, Pizhichil, Thailadhara.

Fomentation Treatments : Elakizhi, Podikizhi, Navarakizhi.

Other treatments like Ksheeradhara and Kasayadhara.

Ayurvedic treatments are integrated with internal medications (Aushada), dietary modifications, optimal physical activities (Pathya Ahara and Vihara) and Rasayana (rejuvenation therapy).

These measures help reduce inflammation and stiffness, enhance mobility, promote circulation and activate the nervous system. Additionally, Rasayana therapy strengthens joints and bones while slowing the degeneration process.

This comprehensive approach not only restores bodily functions but also address the root causes of the disease, press release said. For further more details contact : 044 2829 2000 / 91761 11960

City to see revised parking charges in rush hours soon

Parking charges in busy areas are set to rise during peak hours under a new parking policy expected to be adopted within three weeks. Initially, the revised rates will apply to market areas, while residential zones may see parking charges introduced on roads wider than nine meters in the future. Parking on streets narrower than seven meters will be prohibited.

Currently, parking fees in Chennai are 20 per hour for cars and 5 per hour for motorcycles, with premium parking costing 60. The Chennai Corporation Council will finalize the new charges once the policy is approved. Experts emphasize the need for efficient parking management to reduce traffic congestion and promote sustainable urban transport. Suggestions include expanding multi-level parking facilities, introducing nominal parking rates for public carriers, and enabling digitized payment systems. Residents advocate for increased parking spaces and affordable rates to address growing challenges.

Hoping for a solution

The 90th street in Ashok Nagar is facing many problems to be addressed. The first and foremost being the name board on the street. Name boards placed on both sides of the street and both of them are found erased. Street name signs must be highly visible and legible to drivers, cyclists, pedestrians and emergency responders. Moreover it is making it tough for commuters and visitors.

The street name boards have been found damaged for a long time but are yet to be replaced, residents opine. The stickers have peeled off, they lament. According to Tamil Nadu urban local body rules, both sides of the roads must have blue-printed reflective street name boards carrying details of zone, ward and division numbers. Although boards are there, these basic details are missing. The street lacks sanitation and is encroached by wooden logs on the side.

Water contamination a problem in Virugambakkam

Sewage overflows and water contamination are no longer confined to the city's suburbs. Even core areas within Chennai Corporation grapple with these problems. In Virugambakkam areas such as L&T Colony, Swarnambigai Nagar, Pandiyan Street and Srinivasapuram report sewage leaks contaminating drinking water pipelines and sewage flowing in stormwater drains.

The drinking water stinks and often appears black. I accidentally consumed some and suffered severe diarrhea and stomach pain, said Srinivasan, a long time resident of Swarnambigai Nagar. Rain worsens the situation, with sewage entering homes. Residents also say that they spend 30-35 daily on drinking water and that even water used for washing clothes smells foul.

Officials have acknowledged the problem. Virugambakkam ward 128 depot assistant engineer C Aldrink Durai confirmed sewage was pumped into stormwater drains during rain and promised corrective action.

Chennai book fair

The annual Chennai Book Fair is set to take place at the Nandanam YMCA Ground from December 27, 2024, to January 12, 2025. The event will be inaugurated by Deputy Chief Minister Udhayanidhi Stalin and Minister Anbil Mahesh.

During the inaugural function, the Deputy Chief Minister will present the Kalaingar Porkizhi Award to distinguished writers. The fair will feature 900 stalls showcasing a wide variety of books, all available at a 10% discount. Visitors can attend the fair from 11 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on holidays and from 2 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. on weekdays.

This 17-day event is a much-anticipated celebration for book lovers across Tamil Nadu.

What makes a person get connected to others so deeply?

Deep human connections are rooted in several fundamental psychological and emotional qualities that transcend material circumstances. Authenticity and Vulnerability: When people share their true selves—including their fears, hopes, struggles, and genuine emotions—they create profound emotional bonds.

Empathy and Compassion: The ability to truly listen and understand another person's experiences, to feel with them rather than just for them, creates powerful emotional connections.

Shared Experiences and Emotional Resonance: Humans connect deeply through shared moments of joy, pain, challenge, and growth. These experiences create a sense of mutual understanding that goes beyond superficial interactions.

Mutual Respect and Acceptance: Connections deepen when individuals feel unconditionally accepted. This means valuing someone for who they are, without judgment.

Trust and Reliability: Consistent emotional availability, keeping promises, and being present during both good and difficult times build a foundation of trust.

Shared Values and Emotional Alignment: While people don't need to agree on everything, a fundamental alignment in core values and a mutual understanding of what matters most in life creates profound connections.

These qualities demonstrate that true human connection is about emotional depth, mutual understanding, and genuine care—elements that cannot be purchased or manufactured by wealth or power.

Traffic go for a toss

Greater Chennai Corporation's Integrated Stormwater Drain Project took time to reach Dr Ramasamy Road in K K Nagar. By the look of it, this work would likely take even greater time to exit the road. In a state of partial completion, the work sticks out during rains, wearing a muddy look. The wet earth makes it difficult for residents to even step on to the road. The road has been blocked and made out of bounds for motorists. It is choc-a-block with traffic during rush hour. Residents want the SWD work to be expedited so that they are spared the hassle of traffic gridlocks, particularly during the morning school hours.

Traffic came to a crawl following heavy rain that caused water stagnation. Incomplete drain work has left the stretch impassable and force motorists to navigate alternate roads. Despite being a critical project for flood prevention, the work remains incomplete to date. The flawed design of the drainage system further worsens the situation. The road can only be properly relaid once drain work is finished. Until then, traffic here will remain chaotic, lament residents.

Blocking the road

Two public carriers block Suganthi Street in Vadapalani for some time to unload at a particular delivery point leaving not even two or three wheelers to go. As the loading bay is too small, the street is absolutely blocked to unload. Anyone wanting to pass in their car is impossible. The unloading must be done after dark avoiding traffic, residents opine. The movement of goods to and from a vehicle and the completion of the paperwork take time. The vehicle driver should always be on the ground. Loading and unloading zones should have entrances and exits on either side if they can't organising a one-way system is a problem.

Vehicles coming into the street must be diverted for free unloading. Traffic along the street must be stopped to avoid congestion. No business would be allowed to block a street on a regular basis, but one time moves for businesses are permitted too by the authority. Laws and events like this are accommodated even if it means a minor one time inconvenience for others. Blocking the road can create traffic delays and safety hazards, so drivers are usually encouraged to unload in a way that minimizes disruption, police say.

Valasaravakkam to get 4-acre eco-park

Once-slushy, garbage-ridden four-acre plot in Valasaravakkam is now a sprawling lake and will soon be transformed into an eco-park offering a leisure experience to people.

Valasaravakkam and Porur neighbourhoods, with more than 5 lakh residents, faced constant flooding, with knee-deep water near metro rail work sites. This caused snarls on the busy porur-Vadapalani stretch regularly.

Greater Chennai Corporation (GCC) found a fix for the civic issue by transforming an abandoned private land into a three-acre pond last month. It is now brimming with 1.5 million cubic feet of water. Located just 200 metres away Arcot Road on First Main Road in Valasaravakkam, the pond will multiple tree islands for birds and an elevated bound to keep encroachers away. In future, GCC will set up footpaths and parking, landscaping work, an open-air theatre, gazebos and toilet blocks in a one-acre area.

'Margazhi Sangeetha Seva'

With the Blessings of his holiness Sri Sri Vishwavallabha Theertha Swamiji of Sode Matha, Udipi, Hayagriva Vadiraja Matha, T Nagar is Inaugurating their "Margazhi Sangeetha Seva" on Sunday. Sangeetha Vidwan KN. Shashikiran would be inaugurating the Festival at 6.00 AM in the August Presence of Programme Co-ordinators & Violin Vidwan Vittal Ramamurthy & Kruthi Bhat. Music Concerts have been scheduled till January, 13 daily from 6.00 AM onwards.

All Devotees & Music Rasikas Are Welcome.

Restoration of ponds to prevent inundation

Every year, during the monsoon season, many localities in Chennai get inundated and creates issues for the residents.

Now the GCC or Greater Chennai Corporation is concentrating on renovating the old ponds and creating new ponds in Chennai. By this, the storage capacity of the ponds would be increased.

As a result, the excess water would not lead to inundation in the residential localities. In the last 56 months, as many as 41 ponds have been restored by GCC. In Valasaravakkam, Agatheswaevar and Velveswarar kovil pond has been restored and in KK. Nagar WAWF board pond has been restored.

It is noteworthy that in 2023 monsoon SVS Nagar in Valasaravakkam was flooded. In that scenario, the CMRL or Chennai Metro Rail Limited desilted the choked drain at Arcot Road from SVS Nagar Main Road to Kamarajar Salai for free flow of water.

Information is that the 4 acre pond that was under the private entity was taken over by the Chennai Corporation and restoration started.

Widening and deepening works to an area of 2.5 acres were carried out on the pond before the monsoon season. Point is that the water storage capacity was increased from 27000 cubic metres to 47000 cubic metres. It is superb to more that this work prevented the locality from inundation.

Sabarimala sees heavy rush

As Sabarimala is witnessing a massive influx of pilgrims amid the Mandalam-Makaravilakku annual festival, the Travancore Devaswom Board (TDB) is expecting a surge of over 15 lakh devotees this year compared to the previous year. TDB president P S Prashant said the departments concerned have arranged additional facilities from Nilackal to Sannidhanam to manage the surge. In order to manage the parking issue, additional parking centres have also been set up at Pampa and Nilackal.

Pointing out the successful implementation of the virtual queue, he said, the new system increased the arrivals to Sannidhanam on all days throughout the season. As per the current trend, the numbers are likely to surpass last season, he added. Over 50 lakh devotees visited Sabarimala temple during the two-month season in last year, generating a record income of Rs 357 crore. Highlighting the unprecedented sale of 'aravana' and 'unniappam', main prasadam (offerings) of the temple, he said, at the beginning of the Mandalam period, 40 lakh aravana tins were stocked in advance. Over 25 lakh tins are now in reserve, while 3.5 lakh aravana tins are being sold every day. A new resting centre for senior women and children has been opened at Pampa. A similar centre will be set up at Sannidhanam by next season, TDB president said.

GLORIOUS 16 YEARS

Will NOC be issued?

Even after publishing the apathy faced by the pedestrians on 7th avenue in Kodambakkam Times in November 2024, situation still persists with traffic police turning a blind eye towards violators. In a bid to prevent wayward parking, the concerned department must ask restaurants to show their own space for vehicles.

For too long now, parking regulations have been on paper but seldom enforced. With very few demarcated zones, car owners and two-wheeler riders park their vehicles illegally adjoining a popular restaurant that they visit. To the surprise of the public no vehicle is being towed. Residents suggest that law violators must be penalised with stern action.

To streamline on-road parking, the city traffic police must plan to make the process of issuing 'no objection certificates' (NoCs) to restaurants stricter. They must formulate a system to regularise the parking at food joints. As per the system, every restaurant owner should show that he or she has sufficient parking space for the customers and obtain a NoC to get the license renewed by the corporation. If they fail to comply with the norms, they are not given an NoC. Most of the time, the vehicles create chaos and affect the already slow flow of traffic.

Some good samartians blocked 5th Avenue, Ashok Nagar by blocking with two garbage bins. Has the rain lashed on Thursday. The water was deep to 3 ft high, on the other side GCC pulling out stagnate rain water through motor pumps.
